Orcision of State Board of Labor, Conciliation and Arbitration.

UNANIMOUSLY AGAINST HIM.

Brewer, Union and Hischoff Having Agreed to Abide by the Decision, There Will be No Sirike.

The State Board of Labor, Conciliation and Arbitration last evening rendered its decision in the case of the Salt Lake Brewing company, plaintiff, vs Brewery Union No. 64, and Charles W. Bischoff, defendants. Following is the full text of the opinion:

On the 8th day of March, 1900, the Salt Lake Brewing company, through its general manager, Jacob Moritz, informed this board that a controversy had arisen between said company and its employes. The communication also embodied a statement to the effect that the company desired to submit the matter in dispute to this board for settlement by arbitration.

The said Salt Lake Brewing company likewise submitted a written relation of its grievances, of which the following is a brief summary: That, on the 2nd day of March, 1900, one Charles W. Bischoff, an employe of eald company, was in such a state of intoxication as, in the opinion of Foreman Oscar Lehman, to disqualify him for the proper performance of his work. That he had on different occasions, prior to the date last above named, been the standard condition, and for this in a similar condition, and for this cause had been remonstrated with; that he had, contrary to the rules of the establishment of said company, pried open a shutter in order to procure a quantity of lime from a storeroom on THE AGREEMENT.

fect that, on August 1st, 1898, an agree-met was entered into between the brewery bosses of Salt ake City, Utah, and the branch of the Brewers and Maltsters' National Union of the same place, to continue in effect for two years. Among the conditions of said agree-ment were the following:

That, "All the employes of the brew-ery shall have, during work hours, free That "No man in the breweries can be dismissed without sufficient cause."

That "If the employe wishes to leave the place he has to give five days' notice to the foreman."

The Salt Lake Brewing company

claimed that it was by virtue of this agreement that Chas. W. Bischoff was discharged—the cause for this action being, in the opinion of Foreman Leh-man, sufficient.

BISCHOFF'S DISMISSAL.

On March 6th, 1900, a communication from Fritz Springman in behalf of branch No. 64 of the Brewery Work-man's National union of Salt Lake City, was addressed and delivered to Jacob Moritz, general manager of the Salt Brewing company. It is here! quoted:
"As we are convinced that Chas. W.

we have resolved unanimously that the secretary ask the United Brewery Workmen of the United States, and the Utah Federation of Labor, to give us permission to go on a strike; but if you are willing to reinstate Chas, W. Bischoff in his former position at once, and pay him for his lost time, we will not do the above."

SUBMITTED FOR ARBITRATION.

In answer, on March 8th, 1900, the Salt Lake Brewing company, through its general manager, notified Fritz Springman, secretary of the local branch of the Brewery Workmen's National union, that the company had decided to Submit the matter in dispute to the Utah State Board of Labor, conciliation and arbitration. Mr. Springman was also furnished with a copy of the application for a hearing before this board.

SPECIFIC DENIALS.

On the 12th of March, 1900, this board received from the local union No. 64, through Secretary Springman and others, a written communication. It consisted of specific denials of all the allegations of the Salt Lake Brewing company in relation to the conduct of Chas. Bischoff, and stated that the latter was, on the 3rd day of March, 1900, discharged from his employment, by the Sait Lake Brewing company, "with-out any reason therefor."

This answer included a statement to the effect that Chas. W. Bischoff and those acting with him were willing to join with the Brewing company in sub-mitting the matter in dispute to this agreed to abide by the board's decision The hearing was begun on Monday, March 12th, in room 230, D. F. Walker building, and resumed on Tuesday, March 13th, three sessions in all being

THE KEY WAS LOST.

In the course of the investigation it became evident that the allegation to the effect that Chas. W. Bischoff had injured the complainant company prying open a shutter in order to procure a quantity of lime, could not be seriously entertained. It was shown that Bischoff was unable to find the key the storage room in which the lime was kept; that the obtaining of the lime was necessary and in the interest of the company; that there was no es-tablished rule on the subject and no damage to property resulted from the act complained of.

The nature of the conclusions of the board was, therefore, wholly dependent upon the evidence in relation to Mr. Bischoff's having been intoxicated during work hours, and, in case the fact were troved whether his conduct. were proved, whether his conduct in this respect constituted a justifiable cause for his dismissal.

BISCHOFF WAS INTOXICATED.

The overwhelming preponderance of the evidence sustained the allegation as to Mr. Bischoff's having been intoxicated on the days specifically named in the complaint of the brewing com-pany. There was but little, if any difference in the testimony as to the fact of his condition in this respect, the only conflict being in relation to the degree of his inebriation.

While it was not made clear, by the testimony, that Chas. W. Bischoff's work was neglected, or performed in such a way as to result in damage to the company which employed him, it is indisputable that intoxication and unreliability are inseperable. By his conduct the interests of his employer were endangered. It would be wrong in principle to force upon an employer a situation that might, at any time, result in serious injury to his business.

DISCHARGE SUSTAINED.

The nature of the dispute is such as to place it beyond the reach of a com-promise adjustment; therefore the de-cision of this board is that the discharge of Chas. W. Bischoff, by the Salt Lake Brewing company, was for sufficient cause.

AMUSEMENTS.

hamman in it is a second No amount of age can wither nor custom stale the charm that lies in "The Old Homestead." So long ago that the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, Denman Thompson brought out his New Hampshire idyll, and steadily since then, year in and year out, he has gone on producing it with never a deviation in its record of prosperity. The hold it has established upon the public is something amazing. It has made Mr. Thompson half a dozen fortunes, and has enriched the managers of houses where it has enjoyed its long runs, and yet it seems as fresh, bright and popular as ever it was. Here in Sait Lake, where Uncle Josh, Cy, Aunt Tilly, Ricketty Ann and Happy Jack are almost household words, it was greeted last night with all the warmth, enthusiasm and affection—for affection is the only real word that expresses it with which it was received years ago. There is very little new to be said of the rendition. Mr. Thompson's wonderfully faithful impersonation of the kind, old-fashioned farmer, remains the same warm, human, delightful character that it always was. Looking at his acting, it is impossible to resist the imon that he is just the sort of man at heart that he depicts, and that he has known and lived through all the experiences he shows in the play. The charming rural atmosphere which was always one of the play's chief beauties, is still faithfully preserved; everything is so natural, so peaceful, the whole tone of the acting is so subdued, that one has to rouse himself every now and then into a realization that he is really within the walls of a theater and not gazing upon a bit of real life. The singing is the best Mr. Thompson ever gave us, the male double quartet perect and the church singing grand in the extreme. The scenery, too, is beautiful throughout, and the church scene specially magnificent. The best instances of acting in the support were the Cy Prime of Mr. Carter, the Seth of Mr. Clark, the Jack of Mr. Clare, and the AuntTilly of Mrs. Morse. The same bill goes two nights more.

The brilliant appearance of the Grand last night quite suggested that Mr. Grau had taken up the thread of business just where he laid it down last year. The great record the Grau Opera company made at the Grand last season is well remembered, and it is that record which impelled it to return for a three weeks' season this spring. All Mr. Grau's old friends were out in force to greet him; the house was crowded with a handsome audience, and the plaudits and encores bestowed on the favorite musical numbers, especially the recalls given Stanley Felch, showed that the popularity of the com-pany had not diminished a whit. Mr. Felch remains the undoubted favorite. even though he had little opportunity aside from what he created, in the role of the elephant tender, but he gained seven recalls for his up-to-date coon song. The prime favorite among the ladies was Miss Emmett, whose bright and vivacious ways and telling voice, established her with the audience from the commencement. Miss Mortimer, another old friend, had less to do but was as efficient as before. The weak member of the company on its previous The weak visit was its baritone, but Mr. Langlois place is now excellently filled by Mr Lett, who had the role of Wang last night, and who sang and acted in a manner that also landed him in a place among the favorites. A rumor which seems to have at least reason to back it, if not actual authority, is to the effect that the Western will purchase the block of ground immediately to the north of its present passenger station. Already this line owns the southwest and south portions of the block and the increasing business of the company makes the acquisition of more trackage ground a near absolute necessity. When the passenger trains shall be running into the new union depot the north-and-south string of blocks now occupied by the Western for all purposes will make splendid freight depot grounds, especially with the addition of the block mentioned, which is bounded by First and Second South streets and Fifth and Sixth West

ELECTRICAL PARADES.

Probably the Best Ever Made Was at New Orleans Last Month. Numerous attempts have been made to utilize the tracks and wires of electric rallways in making imposing effects for industrial and other parades, room, and thrust a picture in Palmer's but the most elaborate electrical pageant of this kind ever attempted was the Prince Nereus parade on the open-ing night of the New Orleans carnival last month. The Street Railway Re-view in describing the floats states that they were built on the platforms of or-dinary summer street cars, the posts and roofs having been removed. It tested the ingenuity of the designer to devise a plan to completely conceal both the motorman and trolleyman, and to so disguise the trolley pole that it would not be recognized. It was a difficult piece of work, especially on account of the radical difference of all the tableaux, but it was accomplished admirably. Due regard had to be exercised as well to give both men ample room to work in, and to see ahead. Though each tableau had a cave in front, and a larger one to the rear, the design comprehended this so cleverly that its purpose was allowather less in that its purpose was altogether lost in the general effect. In one car the motorman was concealed in the head of fish, and a small, inconspicuous aperture gave him full opportunity to see ahead. The trolleyman was concealed in the tail of the fish, while the trolley pole was hidden by several seagulis in flight. In a car showing the burning of the Templars, the motorman and trolleyman were concealed in the flames, while the trolley pole was a huge tongue of flame which swayed to and fro with the vacillation of the wire. The trolley parade was such a success that efforts have been made by Denver, St. Louis and Milwaukee to secure the floats, and it will doubtless be repro-duced in one of those cities.

of the prosecution in not giving the case a speedy trial. After listening to arguments for and against the proposition, Judge Norrell overruled the Cut Off Thirty Miles. It is estimated that the cost of the Sherman hill cutoff will approximate $2,500,000 and that about two years will be consumed in completing the job. Work on all the Union Pacific cutoffs stealing a horse belonging to John Mc-Evoy. The offense is alleged to have been committed last September and the defendant has been in custody since now in course of completion is being pushed rapidly. Kilpatrick Bros., the contractors who have the bulk of the work in charge, state that over 2,000 work in charge, state that over 2,000 men are engaged on the various contracts. The cost of the work now under way will amount to 34.750,000, which is justified by officials and directors of the Union Pacific because of the great improvement, resulting from straightening the curves readily from straightening the curves, modi-fying grades and shortening distances. The contractors believe that the cut-offs east of Rawlins will be ready for travel by June 1 and that the western Mary Judge, by Pierce Critchlow and Barrettee, her attorneys, filed an at-tachment suit against L. W. Dittman in end of the line will be completed by September 1. These calculations are based upon the speed with which the work is being carried on at the present time. president of the Salt Lake Valley railroad, will tonight petition the city council for a right of way down First West street to Second South street. This is the proposed electric line from Salt

Some of the electric railways now building in England have adopted methods of supporting the trolley wires which seem very odd to American eyes, because in this country single poles are set close to the tracks, which are usually in the middle of the street or else two poles at the curbs and cross wires are used. The March number of the Street Railway Review in an article on the electric line in Coventry, England, states that iron poles having pro-jecting arms over twelve feet long are used for carrying the trolley wires.

When the present war in South Africa is ended, as is supposed it will in the subjugation of the Boers, the Burling-ton officials anticipate that thousands of the people of the Transvaal will be as desirous of getting away from Eng-lish rule as they were when they went into the African wilderness. There is no place in Africa for them to go, and the road is preparing to send agents to that country to induce them to come to this country and settle in the unde-veloped portions and engage either in stock-raising or farming. They are confident of securing several thousand of these industrious and frugal people.

In the closing years of the seven-teenth century William Penn drew up his famous contract with the Lenni Penape tribe of Indians, who, by its wording, were to release to William Penn and his successors as much land lying between the Delaware and Susquehanna rivers, as could be stepped off in 24 hours, commencing at a point indicated by a rough stone monument still standing near Newton. From that time the people of Bucks county have had no better method of reaching the county seat than was then in vogue, until quite recently, when an electric railway was built, running from Bristol to Doylestown, Pa., via Newtown. According to the Street Railway Review, this road is 28 miles long, and is a model of interurban construction, the three-phase transmission system at a pressure of 6,000 volts being used.

Tom O'Rourke, of the club, explained that it was his intention to allow the $2,500 already on deposit for the Jeffries-Corbett match to continue un ter that fight on May 11, making $5,000 in all, as required.

The Westchester Athletic club repre-

World's Record. John Chapman, the bleycle rider who seld thousands spellbound at the Salt

Palace track last season by his wonder-ful riding, has again demonstrated his superiority over the "Terrible Swede" in a fifty-mile race.

Last Sunday night Chapman rode against Lawson and Hardy Downing at Los Angeles and not only did be beat them by several wheel lengths, but he smashed the world's record by riding the fifty miles in one beautiful. the fifty miles in one hour, thirty-sever minutes and nineteen seconds. It will be remembered that Chapman won from Lawson here last summer. Judging from his work in Los Angeles the At-lanta boy is himself once more. He will ride at the Salt Palace again this sea-son and will doubtless smash more records.
